MEGAN'S TRANSFORMED NOSE

Megan Fox had a distinctive bump on her nose when she first came to Hollywood, but now the Transformers star's face is flawless! Although he doesn't think the 21-year-old has had a surgical nose job, Dr. Calabria says her nose does appear to be "softer." Injecting a filler, such as Radiance, above and below a bump would make a nose look straighter and lasts up to two years. Megan's rep denies that she's had anything done.

JOELY'S PERKY AGAIN

Like many moms who have breastfed, Joely Fisher suffered from sagging after having her second baby 20 months ago. But the actress' figure was back to its former glory when she arrived at the Emmys on September 16. She could have had breast augmentation and possibly a lift, says Dr. Calabria. "It's common for women to have that kind of surgery after pregnancy." But Joely, 39, credits a simpler source: "I'd like to thank the makers of Topstick tape," she tells In Touch.
